

May 28 & 29

Dear St. Agnes Parish Family,

I was invited to write this week's pastoral column in the bulletin because this week I am leaving San Francisco for several months of dissertation research in India and won't return until mid-autumn. Since becoming a regular presider at Sunday liturgies last August, and then moving into this Jesuit community in January, I've come to love this parish, its neighborhood, and the Loyola Jesuit Community of which the resident Jesuits are a part. It will be sad to be away, but I look forward to coming back for the duration of my dissertation writing.

I was asked to say something about what I'll be doing while I am away. My PhD is in the modern history of India. When historians say "modern" we mean roughly the last 500 years! In particular I study the colonial encounter between Europe and India, especially the mixed-race community that soon developed in every colonial port city, trading post, military cantonment or later railway hub. I study how this community's identity evolved, crucially in its relations with the colonial state apparatus (military, railways, etc.), and its practice of Christianity as a prominent minority within the wider community of Christians. The work I will do in India is mainly archival research – government, church and organizations' archives – but as the mixed race community was spread all over the subcontinent, this means visits to archives in various places, though my base will be in Kolkata (famous as you know, for Mother Theresa). You can be sure that as I enter the persistent 95-105 degree heat and near 100% humidity of India in this season, without AC, I will be dreaming of San Francisco's 65 degree summers! Let us pray for one another. I have full confidence that God unites us in Spirit in ways that are mysterious but which we often experience tangibly.

On the topic of prayer, Fr. George wants to remind everyone to contact the office to send in mass intentions. May we together lift one another up in prayer, especially when we celebrate the Eucharist.

Wishing you all light and peace! See you in Autumn.

Fr. Brent Otto, S.J.

The Berrigans – brothers, Daniel a Jesuit priest and Philip (Phil) a former Josephite priest married to Elizabeth (Liz), a former sister of the Sacred Heart – spent their entire lives engaged in faith-based, nonviolent resistance to war, nuclear proliferation, and the Catholic Church. As told through the eyes for the next generation of Berrigans, ‘The Berrigans: Devout and Dangerous’ is a potent testament to the power of unrelenting faith and nonviolent resistance in the wake of the many challenges we are facing around the globe today.

That is the vision:

The Lion with the Lamb, they told us from old. Peace is the promise,

Peace is the path,

Peace is life.

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=oEmvQgg_EpQ

Thousands of years ago this vision rooted itself in the Jewish people, unfolded in Jesus the Jew and became the emblem for Christian faith. An icon of the kingdom of God.

This photo of this iteration of the lion and the lamb is taken in front of an elementary school in Bolinas.

Today - my words are few, as the tragedy of “another” shooting penetrates our heart and souls. US-America is killing itself. Every shooting is not “just another” it is beautiful human lives taken from this earth senselessly, families tormented with years of grief to come, trauma in our society that is hard to mend. Again it has hit the poor: we need peace desperately.

Peace through care for our brothers and sisters affected by mental health sickness, peace through silence of guns, peace through dialogue and diplomacy, peace by the way of our lives. PEACE!

Today - I invite all of us to pray and to speak as we are moved to do: in writing and in speech. This society needs to change, we need to change. And we need a vision to do so, as needed the writers of the text of Isaiah and the writers of Revelation.

Let's follow this thousands of years old vision!

Peace, Julia
